positioned just out of the door zone of parked cars as is recommended.
The driver took exception to this and deliberately accelerated closely past the cyclist. This is seen on the rear-view camera footage. When confronted about having endangered the cyclist, it is clear from the driver's reaction that it was deliberate and he felt entitled to endanger cyclists, despite the fact that he had no understanding of recommended cycling procedure or of the Highway Code. The driver made various threats and the cyclist escaped on the pavement as that was the only available route. The driver kicked the rear of the bicycle and lost balance which the cyclist was unaware of at the time. Fortunately there was no real damage to the bike or injury to the driver. The driver was cautioned by the police for a public order offence, threats to commit criminal damage and assault. He admitted the offences and apologised to the cyclist via the police.",

The Biggest Disappointment - lyrics
They had my future wrapped up in a parcel And no one even thought of asking me
The day I turned fifteen I caught the mail train
To find what else might be in life for me I rode on trucks and trains and lived on nothing Served me right for wanting to be free Ah
well that's the way society looked at it But it didn't seem to be that way to me
And the biggest disappointment in the family was me The only twisted branch upon our good old family tree I just couldn't be the

person they expected me to be\nAnd the biggest disappointment in the world was me\nA lot more dinner times than there were dinners\nI learned a lot that hurt me at the time\nThen this quiet country boy went home a different man\nWith the memory of distance on my mind\nBut I always spoke too loud and laughed too often\nMaybe drank too many glasses down\nAnd perhaps my clothes were older than I realised\nA relief to all concerned when I left town\n\nWritten By Joy McKean\nPublished by EMI drunk\nMaybe so am I\nHere beneath the old expressway\nI watch them walk on by\nAll the harbour's hummin'\nThey'll light the crackers soon\nI just wanna kiss you\nBeneath the New Year moon\n\nAll the junkie kids are tired\nEvery single taxi's hired\nYou say I'm movin' slow\nThat you wanna go\nBut I don't wanna leave\nThere's no need to feel so bad\nGrowing up can make you sad\nYou won't be ignored\nAll aboard, tonight is New Year's Eve\n\nMum and Dad are in the backyard\nWith Gladys Knight and her Pips \nMy little brother's in his bedroom\nWith nicotine on his fingertips\n\nMy big brother's downtown\nScaring girls and fighting surfies\nI said I meet him by the Donny Kebab stand\nNext to Colin Murphy's\n\nI can hear those Westies blow their horns\nDesert boots draggin' off the dunes\nDowntown's got its own sound\nWhistlin' through these ruins\nAnd the streets are full of action\nThe burnin' signs are hangin' high\nI just gotta get some traction\nLet the lights shoot through my eyes\n\nAll the punks are lighting fires\nDrinking 'Long Necks' in the park\nSome girl's swimming in the fountain\nSinging Buzzcocks in the dark\n\nYour sister always says she's lonely\nI stole a New Year's kiss from her\nAs the last train left the station\nEvery red light was a blur\n\nNow all the junkie kids are hired\nThe train driver's gettin' tired\nThe moon is hangin' low\nThe rails are rockin' slow\nShut your eyes and breathe\nI don't know why you feel so sad\nIt's the best time that I ever had\nLet me hold you tight, let me hold you tight\nTonight is New Year's Eve\n\nAlright, alright now\nJust come on, come on\n\nWho's gonna miss us?\n\nWritten by Perry Keyes\nPublished by leafy neighbourhood...Max, science teacher, and Therese, tax accountant, decide that here is the house for them. \n\nUnsuspecting, they buy and move in, finding a nice family on one side and, well, \"interesting\" on the other. But interesting soon becomes loud, and loud soon becomes intolerable and when the intolerable becomes the violent, and the police are powerless to do anything, and the community lawyer suggests ear plugs, Max and Therese are forced to try and solve the problem of the neighbour from hell themselves...and end up with a corpse on their hands. \n\nBut even that's not the worst of it, because the corpse from hell has friends...and even worse, enemies...", Winkler and Chris Lambiase. Music by Terry Riley. This was created in real time using an RE-4 Rutt/Etra analog video synthesizer. After spending our January college break building the facility that housed the RE-4 and related equipment, we created this tape (with lots of patch cords) the night before we headed back to school.\r\n\r\nThis is the full length version of this piece, recently recovered from my only remaining copy. (A two-minute excerpt of it has been on this channel since 2009.) Originally recorded to a 3/4" U-matic VCR, at some point in the late 1970s I bumped up the 3/4" cassette to a 2" Quadraplex tape at EUE Video in New York. The tape has sat on my shelf since then, and having realized it was the only copy left, I decided it was time to transfer it to a digital file. Many thanks to the folks at DC Video in Burbank, California who did the transfer and may be the last place in the USA still running 2" Quadraplex VTRs!\r\n\r\nAs I couldn't afford new tape stock in those days, the recycled 3/4" cassette stock we used to record on had a glitch at the end, and in looking at the Quad tape it seems the last 20 seconds of the piece dropped out, went to noise and then a Pittsburgh Steelers football game. (3/4" VCRs were used for off-air recording before VHS or Betamax decks existed.) I have, therefore, taken the liberty of adding a new ending based on keeping with the spirit of the piece. I've also replaced the original mono audio track with a stereo version for your listening enjoyment, de-interlaced the frames for better playback on progressive scan displays and added titles. Other than these changes the entire piece is presented here in its original form, having been made in a single take and recorded in real time.\r\n\r\nWhile modern image generation tools allow for the creation of anything imaginable, there was something magical about "playing" the RE-4 like an instrument and discovering the result, limited that it may have been. So please sit back, turn off your e-mail, mute your cell phone, log out of Facebook and Google+, ignore all tweeting, turn up the volume, select full screen, turn off your mind, relax and float down the pixel stream...\r\n\r\nEnjoy!\r\n\r\nDean\r\n\r\nP.S. - When I de-interlaced this version for YouTube, I essentially threw away one of the two video fields. This yields a crisp, sharp image but loses 50% of the content. As it turns out, that other 50% makes the piece look much more organic if less sharp. I have, therefore, also uploaded a version with both fields present."

great Australian Artist\r\n\r\nSinging out along the Ranges\r\n\r\nSpreading his magic in the city's and towns\r\n\r\nWith tales of legends and wet city streets\r\n\r\nCreating a legend all of his own\r\n\r\n\r\nFrom Bradman to Queen feelings of grief\r\n\r\nHe spins his yarns, his tales of gold\r\n\r\nin a style beyond belief\r\n\r\n\r\nHe's created a legend all of his own\r\n\r\n\r\nNot since the likes of Patterson\r\n\r\nHas this great country been described from him I take inspiration\r\n\r\nfrom him I take the good\r\n\r\nIf I could

        "description" : "We hope you and your cat love this music as much as we love making it for you! \n\nRelax My Cat are experts in creating relaxing music to help calm your cat and help them sleep. Our music is composed in-house by our team of producers, and uses binaural technology designed to relax and calm your cat. If your cat has sleeping problems or anxiety problems or is even stressed during construction, fireworks or other loud noises, you should try our music.\n\n🎵 Relax My Cat Music on iTunes:\nhttps://itunes.apple.com/gb/artist/relaxmycat/id667991811\n\nRelax My Cat's music will help to calm and soothe your cat or kitten in a variety of situations. Minimise separation anxiety, reduce hyperactivity, minimise fear of thunderstorms or fireworks, stop unwanted whining, comfort sick or injured cats and calm your cat on car journeys - Relax My Cat does it all! \n\nOur music is based on feline vocal communication and environmental sounds that pique the interest of cats; it is written in a musical language that is uniquely designed to appeal to the domestic cat. All of the music is recorded on traditional instruments and the human voice. No actual cat, mouse, or bird calls are used (although it may sound like it). \n\nRelax My Cat's music is unique, and will help in a variety of situations as a substitute for medication. We have helped thousands of cats and kittens worldwide to sleep and reduce their anxiety. Music therapy for your cat can keep them calm, happy and healthy, and it is a great way to rehabilitate rescue cats - or just get your kitten or cat used to their new home. \n\nBeing re-homed is an incredibly stressful time for cats - as they have to get used to a lot of different sights and sounds, as well as their new family and any other pets in the household. We recommend that you play Relax My Cat during this time, and it will help reduce their heart rate and relax them while they explore their new surroundings. No more whining kittens - they will get used to your home in no time at all with the help of Relax My Cat's music!\n\nNew Kitten Playlist:

<https://goo.gl/dCZJym>\n\nYou may be litter training, which can be a stressful time for both dog and parent, and our music will soothe your kitten making your life easier. When listening to Relax My Cat you will notice your kitten start to relax, and get more used to their tray, or similarly if you are training them to get used to their travel box.\n\nIt is also very useful to calm your cat during car journeys - which many kittens find a stressful time. They may associate it with vets visits - so we recommend playing Relax My Cat's music before and after visits to the vet to reduce their stress.\n\nPoorly Cats Playlist: <https://goo.gl/J8SVyC>\n\nThe worst time of year for over 60% of cats is Firework season - the loud bangs are really scary for them and you may notice a huge change in your kitty during this time. Thunderstorms are another difficult time for cats, with the majority of cats being very scared of storms because of the unfamiliar loud noises. Relax My Cat is the perfect solution to this anxiety inducing situation - just play our music to reduce your cats anxiety and make them feel safe. \n\nFireworks and Storms Playlist: <https://goo.gl/Txlvjw>\n\nThe most common problem we hear is separation anxiety in cats - being separated from you can cause severe anxiety in many cats. Relax My Cat's music has improved thousands of cases of separation anxiety and noisy felines all over the world.\n\nSeparation Anxiety Playlist: <https://goo.gl/CKy1V4>\n\nOur music will help cats of all breeds and ages to stay relaxed and keep calm. We are also on a number of social media platforms - so join our community and let's chat!     "description" : "Telling someone how many people you've had sex with is a lot like tripping in the middle of a busy sidewalk: People might act like they couldn't care less, but deep down, everyone is judging you. A lot.\n\nSharing \"The Number\" with someone can be especially awkward when you're dating them. Most people don't get aroused by the thought of their partners having sex with other people.\n\nTo the people who do: You do you -- and someone else, probably.\n\nWe managed to track down a few couples who managed to avoid this particular conversation until we thrust them in front of a camera and asked if they'd be willing to share the number of people they'd gone all the way with (only we phrased it differently because it isn't 1957). \n\nSubscribe now for emotional end to episode 8 of season 2, 'Collision', of Lost. Not only is it one of the best reunion scenes in the show, it's up there as one of my favorite episode closers with Lost soundtrack composer Michael Giacchino demonstrating his fluency at not only underscoring the emotionality but enhancing it through expert utilization of strings and piano. \r\n\r\nNotice the very ending has Jack and Ana Lucia, standing at opposite ends, representing the theme of black and white (through their attire) that is so dominant throughout the show.", your head.\nSubscribe to our channel: http://goo.gl/9CwQhg\n\nFor copyright matters please contact us at: david.f@valnetinc.com\n\nDescription:\nA picture is said to be worth a thousand words, though fact versus fable can be difficult to determine when evidence is limited and theories run wild. Stories associated with these images are not easy to explain or even not at all probable. Since the beginning of time, man has bared witness to the strange and unexplainable. With no cameras or smartphones to capture these moments, the ancients would scribe what they saw on stone. Lucky for us, today we have the technology to see things that the human eye does not. For example...\nA father takes a photo of his daughter one afternoon while the two were together outside and no one else around. When the picture is developed, you can clearly see a man in a space suit standing a few feet behind the little girl. Where did he come from? \nWhat about the mysterious old lady seen calmly taking photographs of the chaos that proceeded the gunshots that fateful day in Dallas, Texas on November 22, 1963, when John F. Kennedy was assassinated? There are pictures to prove her presence but no records of her existence...intrigued yet?\nSee mind boggling images that even the most skeptical of the skeptics may have a hard time disputing. Everything from the mysterious death of Elisa Lam, pyramids on the moon, sea monsters to unidentified flying objects hovering around our planets atmosphere, are all captured. Check out the video and see for yourself.\n\n----- "description" : "\"Merry Christmas Baby\" is an R & B Christmas standard written by Lou Baxter and Johnny Moore. The original 1947 version by Johnny Moore's Three Trailblazers (featuring singer/pianist Charles Brown (musician), is the definitive version of this song.\n\nOtis Ray Redding, Jr. (September 9, 1941 – December 10, 1967) was an American singer-songwriter, record producer, arranger, and talent scout. He is considered one of the greatest singers in the history of American popular music and a seminal artist in soul and rhythm and blues. His singing style was powerfully influential among soul artists of 1960s and helped exemplify the Stax sound.\n\nBorn and raised in the US state of Georgia, Redding quit school at age 15 to support his family, working with Little Richard's backing band, the Upsetters, and also performing at talent shows for prize money. In 1958, he joined

Johnny Jenkins's band, the Pinetoppers, and toured the Southern states as a driver and musician. An unscheduled appearance on a Stax recording session led to a contract and his first single, \"These Arms of Mine,\" in 1962. Stax released Redding's debut album Pain in My Heart two years later.\n\nInitially popular mainly with African Americans, Redding later reached a wider American popular music audience. Along with his group, he first played small gigs in the American South, then performed in the western states at the popular Los Angeles night club Whisky a Go Go. European appearances included London, Paris and other major cities.\n\nAfter appearing at the 1967 Monterey Pop Festival, Redding wrote and recorded his iconic \"(Sittin' On) The Dock of the Bay\" with Steve Cropper. The song became the first posthumous number-one record on both the Billboard Hot 100 and R&B charts after his death in a plane crash. The Dock of the Bay became the first posthumous album to reach number one on the UK Albums Chart.\n\nRedding's premature death devastated Stax. Already on the verge of bankruptcy, the label soon discovered that Atlantic Records owned the rights to his entire song catalog.\n\nRedding received many posthumous accolades, including the Grammy Lifetime Achievement Award and induction into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and the Songwriters Hall of Fame. He received the honorific nickname King of Soul. In addition to \"(Sittin' On) The Dock of the Bay,\" \"Respect\" and \"Try a Little Tenderness\" are among his best-known songs.\n\nMerry Christmas baby\nSure do treat me nice\nMerry Christmas baby\nSure do treat me nice\nBought me a diamond ring for Christmas\nI feel like I'm in paradise\n\nI feel mighty fine, y'all\nI've got music on my radio\nFeel mighty fine, girl\nI've got music on my radio, oh, oh, oh\nI feel like I'm gonna kiss you\nStanding beneath that mistletoe\n\nSanta came down the chimney\nHalf past three, y'all\nLeft all them good ole presents\nFor my baby and for me, ha, ha, ha\n\nMerry Christmas baby\nSure do treat me nice\nYou bought me all those good ole presents\nI love you baby rest of my life\n\nMerry Christmas, girl\nMerry, merry, merry Christmas baby\nSure do treat me nice\nMerry Christmas baby\nI said you sure do treat me nice\nYou bought all those lovely things, yeah\nI feel like I'm in paradise\n\nI wish you a merry Christmas baby\nHappy new year, ha\nA merry Christmas, honey\nEverything here is beautiful\nI love you, baby\nFor everything that you give me\nI love you, honey...

Gilford\nGhost Caught On Tape Breaking A Glass Cake Tray Top In Gilford\n\nWho you gonna call? Ghost hunters called into 'haunted' store after CCTV caught glass spontaneously flying off table of its own accord\n\nDon't believe in ghosts? A spooky surveillance video from a store in Gilford, New Hampshire has even skeptics reconsidering their opinion of the supernatural.\nFootage from the Ellacoya Country Store in Gilford shows a glass cake tray top being mysteriously thrown from the table and shattering on the ground after store employee Heidi Boyd leaves the room.\nUpon hearing the noise, Heidi rushes back inside to see what the raucous was and is terrified to discover that a glass object managed to propel itself from the table and into a scattered pile of sharp glass shards. \n\nStore owner Steve Buzzota told WMUR that while objects haven't traveled by themselves before to his knowledge, customers and employees have sensed a ghostly presence and have even 'felt their shoulders being pulled. '\n\nThe video was first shared on the Ellacoya Barn & Grille Facebook page which is connected to the store, with the tag line, 'Haunted much?'\n\nSince then, skeptics have questioned the validity of the tape. Some say they think that the glass was yanked from a string out the window. As a WMUR reporter pointed out however, the window doesn't open.\n\nThe Mail Online called the store to inquire about the event and other ghostly happenings. What employees and neighbors experienced was more chilling tales of the bizarre.\n\nEmployee Nicole Brandt was not at the Ellacoya Country Store at the time that they glass shattered but she said that strange sounds occur from time to time with no apparent source. \n\nShe said that when she works at the deli counter cutting meat, she hears people entering the room but when she turns around to greet customers no one is there.\n\n\nYou can't see who's up front,' she said. 'It sounds like someone's there and no one's there.' \n\nShe also said that someone could hear whistling sometimes.
\n\nShe said that the restaurant connected to the house was originally a barn but that the store was once a person's residence. She doesn't know firsthand who lived in the home.\n\nThe tenant upstairs from the store chimed in and said he heard strange noises.\n\nHe said that after the store is closed and everyone has left the vicinity, he starts hearing noises downstairs as if someone were there. \n\nHe can hear what sounds like someone or something coming from up the stairs walking down to the seemingly vacated room.\n\n\nGhost Throwing Glass Store in Gilford | Ghost at Gilford Store\n\nGhost Throwing Glass Store in Gilford | Ghost at Gilford Store\n\nGhost Caught On Tape Breaking A Glass Cake Tray Top In Gilford\n\nGhost Caught On Tape Breaking A Glass Cake Tray Top In Gilford",

"description" : " Do not try this! \n\n This was done by a professional and only for demonstration purposes, to show how viscous the molten rock is \n\nPlease consult with professional guides who are safety conscious if you are thinking about such a trip. Much of this new land is highly unstable and large chunks can fall into the ocean without warning, or you can be on top of an emptying lava tube and that can collapse. With the intense heat, sharp rocks and constantly changing lava flows, you can easily get trapped or hurt and thus should be careful and go with professional guides. \n\nWhen the lava emerges from one of the vents at Kilauea, it comes out at 700 to 1,200 °C (1,292 to 2,192 °F), and begins to make its way to the path of least resistance. \n\nThis video shows how pressure applied to this dense material only causes a slight indentation. While this may not be surprising (it is liquid rock), I think that many people think of lava as more of a hot-watery-like substance. You would never fall into a lava lake the way you would a swimming pool, the molten rock is much more dense, so you would simply land on it, sink a little, and be burned.\n\nGood article here:\nhttp://www.wired.com/2011/12/the-right-and-wrong-way-to-die-when-you-fall-into-lava/\n\nAt certain locations, and only under proper guidance and safety procedures, you can visit some of the lava fronts. It is truly one of the most amazing things to witness.\n\nTo use this video in a commercial player or in broadcasts, please email licensing@storyful.com",

    "description" : "BUB celebrates this Thanksgiving with tuna and yogurt. Don't worry, Spooky got some too.\n\nA note about cats eating yogurt:\n\nSome may say that cats shouldn't have dairy. That's true to a degree: what's bad for them specifically is lactose (can give them the runs). Yogurt however is very low in lactose, and as long as it is plain without sugar, it is quite good for cats and their digestion. BUB's vet approves, and she has never had any sort of illness from yogurt, even with a thanksgiving portion.\n\nhttp://www.lilbub.com/about\nhttp://www.lilbub.com/store", didn't mind cause the silence was kind\nAnd you spoke to me in whispers\nThere was the sound of the wind in the cold cold dawn\nAnd the quiet hum of business\nLet me dangle a while in this waiting room\nI don't need to go I don't need to know what your doing\nLying on my side you were half awake and your face was tired and crumpled\nIf I had a camera I'd snap you now 'cause there's beauty in every stumble\nWe are out of practise we're out of sight\nOn the edge of nobody's empire\nIf we live by books and we live by hope\nDoes that make us targets for gunfire?\n\nNow I look at you you're a mother of two\nYou're a quiet revolution\nMarching with the crowd singing dirty and loud\nFor the people's emancipation\nDid I do ok, did I pave the way?\nWas I strong when you were wanting?\nI was tied to the yoke with a decent bloke\nWho was stern but never daunting\n\nAnd he told me to push and he made me feel well\nAnd he told me to leave that vision of hell to the dying",

\nAfter 10 years at triple j, The Doctor announces that he is leaving in the most appropriate way possible: through song.  \n\nIn January 2005, Lindsay 'The Doctor' McDougall clocked on for his first triple j Breakfast show with his friend and Frenzal Rhomb bandmate Jay Whalley.
10 years later, The Doctor has registered 2,200 radio shows, with over 6,100 hours on air, through Brekkie shows with Jay Whalley, Myf Warhurst, Marieke Hardy and Robbie Buck, as well as his own Drive show for the last 5 years.\n\nStay tuned for details of a big send off triple j will throw The Doctor in December.\n\nLYRICS\nI'm fing off, Because I want to do a bunch of cool other stuff\nI'm fing off, Also I think 10 years is probably quite enough\n\nNo I haven't been axed there's no knife in my back\nFrom the ABC efficiency review\nThere's nothing wrong with my health i just think that someone else\nShould have a turn of talking shit and playing real cool tunes\n\nI'm fing off, (he's fing off) from probably one of the world's greatest jobs\nI'm fing off, (he's fing off) no I'm not selling out to Nova, triple m or Fox\n\nI just want to sit down and drink some beer\nMaybe spend some time on my musical career\nDid I forget to mention that I'm getting married next year?\nThat's not important as long as I make this one thing clear\n\nI'm fing off, (he's fing off) from the greatest bunch of friends under the Southern Cross\nI'm fing off, (he's fing off) and I promise that this wasn't scripted by my boss\nI'm fing off, (he's fing off)\n\nAnd you know that it's true, I love each and every one of you\nI swear that I'm not going soft\nI just wanted you to know\nI'm fing off.", \n\nWoaahah angel faced internet friends let me just tell you something, I got new internet the other day and my video uploaded faster than fucking butt lightning. BITCH FIST! Gingers only. I wanted to make this video to just double check that I'm not the only one that has some serious issues with going to sleep, I just cannot figure it out my sweet cupcake fairy. I get so distracted and never want to go to bed, like that little kid that you used to babysit and you were like, hey kid what the fuck it's bed time, and they're all like noooo we don't want to go to bed we want to watch full house and america's funniest home videos, and you're like okay (because you want to be the cool babysitter and you're almost 100% positive that that teddy bear sitting on the mantle does not have a wireless camera with which the parents are using to watch you) so you let them watch their shows and then they're all like, waaaah we're hungry, and you try to reason with them but let's be serious, kids are unreasonable, so then you end up having to play tickle fight and carry them in their bed but then they're like, Jenna read us a bed time story, so you do but I swear to god it's like the longest fucking book ever, but after you're done with that you finally think they're going to go to sleep so you turn off their lights and go back downstairs and they come running back down all giggling and stuff and you're like, hey guys, I really don't give a shit if you go to bed or not but your parents are paying me to follow their nazi rules and make you get in bed at like 6pm so I gotta do what I gotta do here you're really putting me in a difficult spot, so then they get the sense that you're pretty serious and finally go to bed for real. I am those children. Every night. Forever. The end. Some highlights of this video include my inability to be a real adult. Hey who's excited for thanksgiving? I may or may not be cooking a giant turkey so if you want to come over and share with me that would be fantastic we can tell each other knock knock jokes until we pass out from tryptophan (it's the amino acid in turkey that makes you sleepy, not drugs. Jeeze.)

\n\nI'm an otter I'm an otter and I'm such a clean little otter because I washed all around my hair and my boobies and all my otter stuff and otters love chicken noodle soup because that's what I ate for dinner tonight, otters also love ottering which is when you hold hands with another otter while your floating on your back in the river when you sleep so that you don't drift away from each other, otters hold hands because otters love each other and make up a little otter pack together and make squeaky squealy noises because all otters ever want to do is play around and have the most fun ever until it's otter time and then you get some otter sleep by nestling into the otter nest and when otters are awake they drink tons of caffeine and love to eat bacon and watch reality tv because it is so ridiculously entertaining and otters love things like the challenge and project runway and ink master even though those people on there can be bitch ass motherfuckers and then otters love to eat sandwiches for lunch and chicken for dinner because otters love eating so much and then otters love to play with their furry baby otters and take them to the baby otter park so they can run around and play with the other furry baby otters and they're just little otters and are completely dependent on the big otters and that's okay because all the otters have a deal that as long as you're just a magical little otter than you can be in the otter family and all the otters will take care of you and otters love to have fun on the weekends and play otter pong and go to the otter lodge and laugh at other otters on the internet and play otter games together, and they ride around in otter mobiles to get from place to place and hang out with their otter friends and when they talk to each other they say things like, ooooootttttterr?? are you there?? and ot? ot? where are you ot? I miss my otter where are you ot?
And they call their otter parents on the phone and they're all like mommy otter daddy otter how are you guys doing I miss you so very much you should come to my house and I'll cook you otter dinner and show you how grewed up I am and then I'll come to your house where you can make fun of all my dumb choices I made as an otter child and look at pictures from when you were a newborn otter and then you say bye otter parents I'm back into the world and then you go back to your otter nest and sit on the floor and play candy crush. I guess by otters I mean people. I just described people. Damn it I blew it I thought I was on to something there. Otterland.\n\nPlease subscribe to my channel and my vlog \n\nAs I sat down to write this description I just remembered that girl that has two vaginas HAHAAHAHA like how does she have sex or like put a tampon in there, which one does she pee out of or is it like it just comes out of both? Does she have two clits and like two whole things up there or does it eventually turn into one thing, like when she goes to the gynecologist which one do they put the thingy thing up to swab or like how does that fucking work? I'm just filled with questions that I feel like I never got the answer to, so I wish that I didn't know it existed because I have just been riddled with all of these thoughts and feelings about her vagina and now I'm just hanging with no answers, her vagina is like the universe and I'm just trying so hard to understand it but I don't have the answers and I keep asking God like, can you explain this to me? And then he doesn't answer back because I'm supposed to figure it out myself but that takes so long and is so frustrating because I'm all like EXPLAIN THIS VAGINA TO ME and then I just have to think about it and try to reason it out and I just can't okay I tried so hard and I just cant, there are too many things that just don't add up and I'm having the worst time trying to get this off my brain. Anyways this video is about what a girls makeup means and all the wonders of being a girl and contouring your little cheekbones and shit until you look like a hot girl, or maybe making your skin look like different skin by piling liquid skin colored goo all over it and then creating a faux glowy dew all over your face with colors and doo-doo-butter and then you're like, hey boys look at my face you want to make sex with it don't you? Well you're better off doing that than seeing my two vaginas and trying to figure that one out GOD WHY DO I KEEP COMING BACK TO THAT. Okay moving on. Then you put your hoochie lashes on and your cartoon eyebrows and all sorts of stuff that you didn't even know existed like your hookery lipstick or like that dark one that Rihanna wears that looks so dope but because you're a pale white girl with light eyes and light hair and light skin when you do it you look like the opposite of the sexual hotness that Rihanna looks like and look a lot more like Taylor Momson and then you like blame your parents for your bad childhood and have a string of bad relationships where the guy like beats you up and does drugs off of your butt and then you're like, why did my life become this? What choices did I make that lead up to this point, and then you try to rationalize it but then you realize that if you just take that lipstick off you'll be okay. So you take it off and put a pink one on and you're like hey who wants their dick sucked!? But then you don't really feel so much like that so you take that one off and put a red one on and you're like, hey I'm not 50 so lets change this one, so you put a nude one on like Kim Kardashian and you're like, why doesn't this look good on me? Oh yeah it's because it makes me look dead, you know like the opposite of health and vitality, I just do not have the skin tone to make this look right, so you take that one off and you put a peach one on but it makes your teeth look yellow because you like to drink red wine and coffee and stuff so your teeth aren't this gleaming Sofia Vergara shit and you're like, fuck you and your giant fake teeth Sofia Vergara stop being so delightfully hispanic and making me love you etc.! So then you just put some lip gloss on and you're like, alright I guess this works. Then you get your eyeliner and smokey eye going and your mascara all over the place and you're like I'm so hot can I get into the club now? And the guy working at the door says, no you have to go to the back of the line and then hopefully I don't have to let you in because you have the crazy eyes and I don't trust you, so you go back there and wait and think about how all your friends are inside and you can't get in but hey at least I did my makeup. What? What is this? The Matrix? Get out of here apple. \n\nPlease subscribe to my channel and my vlog channel!     "description" : "Cinderella (2015)\nIn-Home Release Date: September 15, 2015 \nOn Blu-ray: http://di.sn/6004BHU1A, Digital HD & Disney Movies Anywhere: http://di.sn/6005BHUHP\n\nA new Frozen short, Frozen Fever, featuring all of your favorite characters and a brand new song, will play in theatres with Cinderella beginning March 13!\n\nThe story of \"Cinderella\" follows the fortunes of young Ella (Lily James) whose merchant father remarries following the death of her mother. Eager to support her loving father, Ella welcomes her new stepmother (Cate Blanchett) and her daughters Anastasia (Holliday Grainger) and Drisella (Sophie McShera) into the family home. But, when Ella's father unexpectedly passes away, she finds herself at the mercy of a jealous and cruel new family. Finally relegated to nothing more than a servant girl covered in ashes, and spitefully renamed Cinderella, Ella could easily begin to lose hope. Yet, despite the cruelty inflicted upon her, Ella is determined to honor her mother's dying words and to \"have courage and be kind.\" She will not give in to despair nor despise those who mistreat her. And then there is the dashing stranger she meets in the woods. Unaware that he is really a prince, not merely an apprentice at the Palace, Ella finally feels she has met a kindred soul. It appears her fortunes may be about to change when the Palace sends out an open invitation for all maidens to attend a ball, raising Ella's hopes of once again encountering the charming Kit (Richard Madden). Alas, her stepmother forbids her to attend and callously rips apart her dress. But, as in all good fairy tales, help is at hand, and a kindly beggar woman (Helena Bonham-Carter) steps forward and -- armed with a pumpkin and a few mice -- changes Cinderella's life forever.\n\n\nWebsite:

another night alone in the city\r\n\r\nSo make my bed the grave and shovel dirt onto my sheets\r\n\r\n\r\nEvery friend we ever had in common\r\n\r\nI will sever the tie, sever the tie with you\r\n\r\nYou can thank your lucky go, I will forget everything about you\r\n\r\nWhen you go, I will forget everything about you\r\n\r\n\r\nI've seen sinking ships go down with more grace than you\r\n\r\n\r\nTurn this up I'll tune you out\r\n\r\nAnother night alone in the city, yeah\r\n\r\nFake it like you matter-that's a lie we can both keep, ohh\r\n\r\n\r\nEvery friend we ever had in common\r\n\r\nI will sever black eye\nMy badge, my witness\nMeans that I believed\nEvery single lie you said\n\nCause every pain of glass that your pebbles tap\nNegates the pains I went through to avoid you\nAnd every little pat on the shoulder for attention\nFails to mention I still hate you\n\nBut there's a light on in Chicago\nAnd I know I should be home\nAll the colors of the street signs\nThey remind me of the pickup truck\nOut in front of your neighbor's house\n\nShe took me down and said\n\nBoy's like you are overrated\nSo save your breath\n\nLoaded words and loaded friends\nLoaded guns to our heads\n\nCause every pain of glass that your pebbles tap\nNegates the pains I went through to avoid you\nAnd every little pat on the shoulder for attention\nFails to mention I still hate you\n\nBut there's a light on in Chicago\nAnd I know I should be apologies\nGirl, you might hold your breath\nUntil your breathing stops forever, forever\nThe only thing you'll ever get\nIs this curse on your lips\nI hope they taste of me forever\n\nThere's a light on in Chicago\nAnd I know I should be home\nAll the colors of the street

    "description" : "This video came about in an unexpected way. A good friend, Kirrilee Bailey, and I went up to the snow for the weekend during the winter season just passed. We stayed in a lodge that was like something out of a Wes Anderson film (special mentions must go to one of its more obscure features: a single taxidermic deer hoof protruding from the dining-room wall surrounded by possibly the largest collection of Christmas-themed Austrian souvenirs in Australia.) Falls Creek is an alpine wilderness full of childhood memories of going skiing with my family. I spent our time on the chairlifts rambling to Kirri while she clung to her cameras, about the ski-runs my sister and I loved and where we'd meet Mum and Dad for hot chocolate at the bottom. Kirri and I didn't ski this time - we just took in the views, played with Kirri's prism lenses in the heavenly light and got lost in the bluest sky I'd seen in a while... The footage was so charming that we realised it would make the perfect accompaniment to Wah Ha; grounded in the Australian Landscape but somehow floating off into the ether... Lisa

    "description" : "Fredericka hosts a discussion on the latest video to go viral.\n\nCNN ARTICLE: \n\nThe director of a video showing a woman being catcalled on the streets of New York has weighed in on the seeming racial disparity of the men featured.\n\nRob Bliss, who posted the video on behalf of the anti-street-harassment group Hollaback!, told CNN that those shown were just a small sample.\n\n\"Looking at this as being some type of sample that is completely balanced, I think, is never going to be accurate,\" he said. \"To do that, we would have had to shoot for days and days, and we didn't set out to make a long video."

Bliss, who was inspired by the experiences of his girlfriend, tracked volunteer Shoshana Roberts as she walked through the city over the course of 10 hours. The video shows her being greeted by mostly black and Latino men with calls like "Hey, baby," "Damn!" and "What's up, beautiful?" Some of the men even follow her.

In a Slate article headlined "The Problem With That Catcalling Video," writer Hanna Rosin notes that "The one dude who turns around and says, 'Nice,' is white, but the guys who do the most egregious things -- like the one who harangues her, 'Somebody's acknowledging you for being beautiful! You should say thank you more,' or the one who follows her down the street too closely for five whole minutes -- are not."

Bliss said that during the 10 hours captured on video, there were 108 instances of street harassment, of which he had 30 to 40 scenes with good enough quality for him to consider. He whittled that down to 20 scenes in the one minute and 57 second video. It's difficult to distinguish that about six of the men were white because the faces were blurred, Bliss said.

"We have 18 scenes where someone is visible and on camera, and two of the scenes ate up half of the run time" of the video, he said. "And yes, those two men were not white."

"We knew this wasn't going to be an accurate representation," Bliss added. "For example, there are no Asian men, but that doesn't mean that Asian men don't do this, too."

"First, we regret the unintended racial bias in the editing of the video that over represents men of color," Hollaback! said in a statement released Tuesday. "Although we appreciate Rob's support, we are committed to showing the complete picture. It is our hope and intention that this video will be the start of a series to demonstrate that the type of harassment we're concerned about is directed toward women of all races and ethnicities and conducted by an equally diverse population of men."

Critics questioned the disparity on social media. One tweeted, "To demonize men of color as the only perpetrators of aggression towards women is patently false and irresponsible."

#Catcalling.

Another person tweeted, "I just got an attitude from an older white male, I didn't say good morning."

#Catcalling since everyone wants to make this a race issue."

Rosin points out that Bliss, who heads the marketing company Rob Bliss Creative and told New Republic "I make viral videos for a living," has been accused of not being inclusive before.

In 2011, a blogger wrote about the Grand Rapids Lip Dub video project, which Bliss hosted. Directed on the streets of the Michigan city, it featured participants lip-syncing the words to Don McLean's "American Pie" and according to the Grand Rapids Press was one of several community events Bliss organized.

But a blogger identified as "ksweeler" wrote that the result didn't exactly reflect the racial makeup of Grand Rapids at the time: 57% white, 18.9% black, 13% Latino and 1.62% Asian-American.

"Otherwise, Grand Rapids looks like Oz," the blogger wrote. "And the people look like they've been reincarnated from those peppy family-style 1970s musical acts from Disney World or Knott's Berry Farm."

Bliss, 26, said the Grand Rapids video had an open call for participation.

As for his latest project, he said the focus on the race of the men has been a distraction and "very frustrating."

In no way was he trying to portray one race as being more apt to harass women in the streets, he said.

"I simply wanted to capture street harassment in a very intimate, close-up way in the real world and have people talk about it," Bliss said. "I just wanted to lay it all bare."

Thursday morning on CNN's "New Day," Roberts discussed her experience with the catcalls, noting that because she was carrying two microphones while Bliss walked ahead of her with a backpack camera, "We had great audio."

As for the racial makeup of the men who attempt to interact with her, she said they were "men of all colors -- in my experience every day, men of all colors. It doesn't "description" : "What if Caro & Jeunet's cannibal-themed classic, Delicatessen, was a three course meal? That's the question Tim Richmond, chef at Melbourne eatery/cinema Longplay, tries to answer in this first episode of Flavours With Subtitles. Watch Tim prepare an bleak lentil salad with a twist, an definitively French beef bourguignon, and for his dessert, fingers on blood. It's dystopian deliciousness.\n\nSubscribe to

    "description" : "FOX43, a local news station in Central Pennsylvania, recently went inside a home in Hanover, York County. This home however, is different from others on the block. The homeowners say their house is severely haunted, with multiple ghosts and other entities.\n\nHomeowner DeAnna Simpson says her family has lived in the home for seven years. After putting "everything they had into buying it" and moving in, she says she and her husband found out it was haunted.\n\nSimpson has many ghostly photos, including some from something that scratches people who come inside. She also has audio recordings of voices, children laughing, and dogs barking that were not in the house.\n\n"Five plus," she says of the number of ghosts in the house. "I have some here that are protecting me, some women here that are protecting me, but the majority are bad, dark forces, inhuman."\n\nSimpson says one of the entities in the house is a demon.
It appears in a photo as a 7-foot-tall shadow figure. While the news team was there, Simpson recorded orbs on her cell phone camera and it caught a clip of a shadowy hand reaching out.\n\nWhen the cameras began rolling, FOX43's photojournalist, Nick Petrillo, felt his hand burning and saw a scratch on his wrist. Simpson put Holy water on him.\n\n"Because you're telling the story," she says. "Because you're putting it out there, because they don't want- that is there, I'm just telling you, right now that is their way of a warning.\n\nSimpson has invited priests, paranormal researchers and mediums into the home. The house will be on "The Dead Files" on the Travel Channel on Saturday. She says the crew turned up evidence of grisly deaths that took place there.\n\n"We put everything into this house," says Simpson. "And we do want to move, but we would have to list it at such a price where we could recoup what we put in.", and I don't know what to do programs/yolngu-boy\n\nLorrpu, Botj and Milika are three Aboriginal teenagers caught between the modern world and the oldest living culture on Earth. The boys once shared a childhood dream of becoming great hunters, but things have changed and their paths are diverging. When Botj finds himself on the wrong side of both black and white law, Lorrpu and Milika risk their own future to save their friend. Leaving behind their community, the boys trek through the unforgiving wilderness to Darwin to argue Botj's case with their tribal leader. To survive, they must draw on the ancient bush knowledge they were taught as boys and, most importantly, on their bonds of friendship.\n\nA groundbreaking "description" : "Charlyne Yi does not believe in love. Or so she says. Well, at the very least, she doesnt believe in fairy-tale love or the Hollywood mythology of love, and her own experiences have turned her into yet another modern-day skeptic. PAPER HEART follows Charlyne as she embarks on a quest across America to make a documentary about the one subject she doesnt fully understand. As she and her good friend (and director) Nicholas search for answers and advice about love, Charlyne talks with friends and strangers, scientists, bikers, romance novelists, and children. They each offer diverse views on modern romance, as well as various answers to the age-old question: does true love really exist?

Then, shortly after filming begins, Charlyne meets a boy after her own heart: Michael Cera. As their relationship develops on camera, her pursuit to discover the nature of love takes on a fresh new urgency.
Charlyne risks losing the person she finds closest to her heart.
Combining elements of documentary and traditional storytelling, reality and fantasy, PAPER HEART brings a fresh perspective to the modern romance and redefines the classic love story.",

Films\nGenres : Fiction - Runtime : 1 h 47 min\nFrench release : 04/02/2009\nProduction year : 2008\n\nLOL? It means \"laughing out loud\" in text language. It is also the name that Lola's friends have given her. However, when it is time to go back to school after summer break, Lola doesn't feel much like laughing. Arthur, her boyfriend, provokes her by telling her that he cheated on her over the summer. And her gang of pals is very gifted at complicating matters. Just like her mother, Anne, with whom life has become impossible, and not only because she has no idea what LOL means. That her parents have divorced is one thing, but that Anne treats her teenage daughter like a child, by lying to her about basic things - like the fact that she is still seeing her ex-partner on the sly, or that a cop is interested in her - is another.
As for Anne, she wonders what on earth has happened to her sweet little daughter. From fusion to confusion, mother-daughter relationships simmer with love and plenty of LOL.\n\nMore info :

http://hijistesnelgegaan.be\n\nVirtually no one feels it is dangerous to drive a few km/h faster than the maximum speed limit. However, even this \"slight\" speeding kills and injures hundreds of people every year. And we tend to ignore the many lives of people close to us that are devastated as well.\n\nTo slow down their loved ones before it is too late, people in this film set up an unusual wake-up call. They invited their speeding friend or family member to their own funeral. The emotional reality check was caught on (hidden) camera.\n\nIBSR - BIVV\n\n \nFilm\n\nThe film that was placed online today shows different people who have been given a mysterious appointment made by someone close to them. What they don't know is that they have actually been invited to attend a funeral... their own funeral! You can see what happens next and how this emotional story ends on www.ilestpartitropvite.be.\n\nApplication\n\nIn addition to this little film, you can also use an application on the same website www.ilestpartitropvite.be to make someone close to you aware of the consequences of speeding. This person/people will receive an initial email announcing that someone they know has sent them a message to make them aware of something that they will only be able to read six months later, when the IBSR/BIVV brings out its next anti-speeding campaign.
Until then, they are advised to drive carefully and to think about their driving habits and in particular their speed.\n\nObjective\n\nThe objective of the film and the application is to generate awareness among users about the possible consequences of speeding, consequences that may be severe, not only for themselves, but also for those close to them. The goal of these tools and the website www.jeflasheaussi.be is to increase social support of speed limits. Let's not forget that that each year around 15,000 accidents, namely more than 40 accidents per day, are caused by drivers who are "in a hurry".\n\n \n\nFilm vidéo\n\nLe film mis en ligne aujourd'hui met en scène successivement plusieurs personnes à qui un proche a fixé un mystérieux rendez-vous. Ce qu'elles ne savent pas, c'est qu'elles sont en fait venues assister à un enterrement qui sera en fait... leur propre enterrement ! Suite et fin de cette histoire émouvante sur www.ilestpartitropvite.be.\n\nApplication\n\nParallèlement à ce petit film, il est possible d'utiliser sur www.ilestpartitropvite.be une application qui permet à ses utilisateurs de sensibiliser un proche aux conséquences d'une vitesse excessive. Celui-ci recevra un premier email attirant son attention sur le fait qu'une connaissance lui a envoyé un message de sensibilisation qu'il pourra lire 6 mois après, à l'occasion de la prochaine campagne vitesse de l'IBSR. D'ici là, il lui est conseillé d'être prudent sur la route et de réfléchir à son comportement au volant, notamment en matière de vitesse.\n\n \nObjectif\n\nL'objectif du film et de l'application est de sensibiliser les usagers aux conséquences possibles de leur comportement en matière de vitesse, non seulement pour eux mais également pour leurs proches. Tant ces outils que le site www.jeflasheaussi.be visent par ailleurs à augmenter l'adhésion sociale des limitations de vitesse.
Rappelons que chaque année, près de 15.000 accidents, soit plus de 40 par jour, sont provoqués par un conducteur \"trop pressé\". \n\nSnel rijden is nog altijd een wijdverspreide gewoonte en wordt nog altijd sociaal aanvaard door de Belgische automobilisten. Dit verklaart het nog altijd vrij hoge aantal verkeersslachtoffers in ons land ten opzichte van de andere Europese landen.\n\nDe cijfers voor overdreven snelheid:\n\nIn 2012 deden zich in België 44.193 ongevallen met lichamelijke letsels voor. Verschillende \nonderzoeken tonen aan dat overdreven of onaangepaste snelheid de hoofdoorzaak is bij ongeveer één ongeval op de drie. Dat betekent dus dat ongeveer 15.000 ongevallen per jaar (meer dan 40 per dag) te wijten zijn aan 'overhaaste' bestuurders.\n\nHoe sneller een bestuurder rijdt, hoe minder tijd hij/zij heeft om te stoppen en een ongeval te voorkomen. Bij 30 km/u bedraagt de remafstand 13 meter, maar bij 50 km/u heeft een voertuig al 26 meter nodig om volledig tot stilstand te komen. \n\nEen automobilist die van Brussel naar Luik rijdt en systematisch 20 km/u sneller gaat dan toegelaten, wint daardoor amper 7 minuten! Wegens het drukke verkeer en het grote aantal kruispunten is de tijdwinst binnen de bebouwde kom nihil. \n\nTrager rijden kost minder. Wie 10 km/u trager rijdt, bespaart 3 tot 5 liter brandstof op 500 km.

OK Go, made in partnership with Chevrolet. OK Go set up over 1000 instruments over two miles of desert outside Los Angeles. A Chevy Sonic was outfitted with retractable pneumatic arms designed to play the instruments, and the band recorded this version of Needing/Getting, singing as they played the instrument array with the car. The video took 4 months of preparation and 4 days of shooting and recording. There are no ringers or stand-ins; Damian took stunt driving lessons. Each piano had the lowest octaves tuned to the same note so that they'd play the right note no matter where they were struck. Many thanks to Chevy for

        "description" : "\"Tomorrow Never Knows\" is the final track of The Beatles' 1966 studio album Revolver but the first to be recorded. Credited as a Lennon--McCartney song, it was written primarily by John Lennon.\n\nThe song has a vocal put through a Leslie speaker cabinet (which was normally used as a loudspeaker for a Hammond organ) and uses automatic double tracking (ADT) to double the vocal image. Tape loops prepared by the Beatles were mixed in and out of the Indian-inspired modal backing underpinned by Ringo Starr's constant but non-standard drum pattern. The song is also one of the first uses of a flanger effect on any instrument.\n\nIt is often considered one of the greatest songs of all time, with Pitchfork Media placing it at number 19 on its list of \"The 200 Greatest Songs of the 1960s\", and it being featured in Rolling Stone's 500 Greatest Songs of All-Time.\n\n\n\nCopyright Disclaimer\n\nUnder Section 107 of the Copyright Act 1976, allowance is made for \"fair use\" for purposes such as criticism, comment, news reporting, teaching, scholarship, and research.\n\nFair use is a use permitted by copyright statute that might otherwise be infringing.\n\nNon-profit, educational or personal use tips the balance in favour of fair use.", \n\nSpike Jonze: \nOn Sunday we made a one-act play for my friend Humberto's company, Opening Ceremony. The idea was to do a play instead of a regular fashion show during Fashion Week, and, miraculously, we were able to do it at the New York Metropolitan Opera House. (Thank you, Peter Gelb and everyone at the Met!) Also, this week my dear friend Karen is putting out her first solo album of precious, personal love and heartache gems titled Crush Songs. They are songs made so intimately and spontaneously alone in her bedroom a few years ago that they feel more like unguarded whispers from her heart than a traditionally produced album. So on Sunday, during a ten-minute break as we were rehearsing and lighting at the Met, we made a very impromptu "music video" for Karen in the spirit of her album. It just seemed like if you have the Opera House, that song, and Elle Fanning together, you shouldn't let the opportunity go by. So we made this as a surprise gift for Karen to congratulate her on her album. She is going to see this for the first time as you do. I hope you enjoy.\n\nRead on VICE: Spike Jonze and Jonah Hill Are Playwrights Now - <http://bit.ly/X92G0U>

Short (end) clip from the episode Love and Monsters from Doctor Who's 2nd season (2006). So I guess that means...SPOILERS! ;-)\n\nStumbled on this quote randomly online while making my Vincent And The Doctor vid, so then I HAD to watch the episode ASAP :-)\n\nTried to use a bit more of the end scene, since the whole thing is what I feel in my heart, but ran into copyright issues. Though luckily I got the core quote. So I guess that means I should say...all rights property of Doctor Who and BBC - I own nothing. Other than my life philosophy. That they stole.
I kid, I kid :-)\n\nFunny how my 2 fave episodes both received mixed reviews - go figure. I guess some people take life (and tv shows) too seriously, eh? I guess you have to be like me and love/relate to the quirk and emotion to appreciate them. Interesting that both episodes were the 10th episodes of their respective seasons and both were initially broadcast in June.\n\nPlease check out the rest of my Channel if you get a chance - I'm trying to create some sort of Community for the other good hearted, \"weird\" people like me out there in search of a refuge from the haters who will never appreciate or understand us.
People like us trying to survive in a world of \"normal\" people and all their pressures and demands to conform and be like them (and Fuck anyone who thinks I'm being pretentious - like you know what I've been through). \n\nAnd if you like my Channel and/or relate to anything I'm saying with it, I've put a lot of time and effort into it, not to mention my heart and soul, and its not easy to be brave and put yourself out there like that (even/especially on the internet), and the Comments/Messages I get are so preciously few, so please drop me a Message or a Comment to let me know (I'm thinking about opening up the vids for Comments, too...plus I know I need to add an official Channel Description). That's what I do this for and what keeps me going in this messed up world.",

My favorite is 5284 hz (at 3:08).\n\nSo this experiment is the Chladni plate experiment. I used a tone generator, a wave driver (speaker) and a metal plate attached to the speaker. First add sand to the plate then begin playing a tone. Certain frequencies vibrate the metal plate in such a way that it creates areas where there is no vibration. The sand \"falls\" into those areas, creating beautiful geometric patterns. As the frequency increases in pitch the patterns become more complex. \n\nUnedited version with tone throughout entire video:\nhttp://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1yaqUI4b974", http://melbourne.vic.gov.au/gianttheremin\nMove to your own groove! Let your feet create the beat! The Giant Theremin is a super-sized musical instrument controlled by movement rather than conventional touch. Fun and easy to play, step inside the activation zone and hear your movement control the sound. Run, dance and jump about to create a symphony of movement. \n\nInspired by Russian inventor Lev Termen's original 1928 theremin, Melbourne's artist Robin Fox has designed a Giant Theremin capable of sounding like all sorts of musical instruments (or indeed any sound) and can be played by up to eight people simultaneously. Bring your friends and your video camera.\n\nThe Giant Theremin was installed in Melbourne's Northbank precinct in November 2011 for Melbourne Music Week and will remain playable every day until February 2012.", \n\nLyrics:\n\nYou fix your make up, just so\nGuess you don't know, that you're beautiful\nTry on every dress that you own\nYou were fine in my eyes a half hour ago\n\nAnd if your mirror won't make it any clearer I'll\nBe the one to let you know\n\nOut of all of the girls\nYou're my one and only girl\nAin't nobody in the world tonight\n\nAll of the stars, you make them shine like they were ours\nAin't nobody in the world but you and I\nYou and I\nAin't nobody in the world but you\n\nYou stop the room when we walk in\nSpotlight's on everybody's staring\nTell all of these boys they're wasting their time\nStop standing in line, 'cause you're all mine\n\nAnd this evening I won't let the feeling die\nI never wanna leave your side\n\nOut of all of the girls\nYou're my one and only girl\nAin't nobody in the world tonight\n\nAll of the stars you make them shine like they were ours\nAin't nobody in the world but you and I\nYou and I\nAin't nobody in the world\n\nYou keep wondering if you're what I'm wanting\nYou don't even have to try\n\nYou don't have to try\nDon't try\nDon't try\nYou don't have to try\n\nOut of all of the girls\nYou're my oneand only girl\nAin't nobody in the world tonight\n\nAll of the stars, they don't shine brighter than you are\nAin't nobody in the world but you and I\nYou and I\nYou and I\nNobody in the world tonight\nAin't nobody in the world but you and I",

Trailer #1 (2014) - Emily Browning Movie HD\n\nFrom writer/director Stuart Murdoch (lead singer of beloved indie pop group Belle & Sebastian) comes the most delightfully different musical of the year.
Eve (Emily Browning) is a catastrophe-low on self-esteem but high on fantasy, especially when it comes to music. Over the course of one Glasgow summer, she meets two similarly rootless souls: posh Cass (Hannah Murray) and fastidious James (Olly Alexander), and together they decide there's only one thing to do: form a pop group.\n\nThe Movieclips Trailers channel is your destination for the hottest new trailers the second they drop. Whether it's the latest studio release, an indie horror flick, an evocative documentary, or that new RomCom you've been waiting for, the Movieclips team is here day and night to make sure all what she wants, no matter what. She may not be the prettiest girl on the block. She may be a bit overweight. And even though haters pop up left and right, she doesn't let them drag her down. I hope that we can all draw inspiration from that strength of spirit; to look beyond our own flaws and see that anything is possible. Thanks for watching, and I

    "description" : "NOTE FROM TED: This talk contains several assertions about masturbation that are not supported by academically respected studies in medicine and psychology. Please do not look to this talk for medical advice.\n\nIn response to Philip Zimbardo's \"The Demise of Guys?\" TED talk, Gary Wilson asks whether our brains evolved to handle the hyperstimulation of today's Internet enticements. He also discusses the disturbing symptoms showing up in some heavy Internet users, the surprising reversal of those symptoms, and the science behind these 21st century phenomena.\n\nMore About Gary Wilson\n\nGary is host of www.yourbrainonporn.com. The site arose in response to a growing demand for solid scientific information by heavy Internet erotica users experiencing perplexing, unexpected effects: escalation to more extreme material, concentration difficulties, sexual performance problems, radical changes in sexual tastes, social anxiety, irritability, inability to stop, and obsessive-compulsive symptoms.\n\nAs a physiology teacher with a particular interest in the latest neuroscience discoveries, Gary was aware that their symptoms might be the result of addiction-related brain changes. Applying the website's concepts of brain plasticity, many former users have braved withdrawal, reversed their symptoms and restored normal sexual responsiveness.\n\nThe site has been linked to from hundreds of threads in forums from over thirty countries, with posts numbering in the thousands. Gary blogs for \"Psychology Today\" and \"The Good Men Project\" on the extreme plasticity of adolescent brains, the evolutionary context for today's flood of novel cyber \"mates,\" and the neurochemical reasons why superstimulating Internet delivery has unexpected effects on the brain.\n\nMany thanks to Pat Somers of Slow Moving Pictures for the skillful editing of this video.\n\nIn the spirit of ideas worth spreading, TEDx is a program of local, self-organized events that bring people together to share a TED-like experience. At a TEDx event, TEDTalks video and live speakers combine to spark deep discussion and connection in a small group. These local, self-organized events are branded TEDx, where x = independently organized TED event. The TED Conference provides general guidance for the TEDx program, but individual TEDx events are self-organized.* (*Subject to certain rules

"description" : "Wolves can make a variety of vocalizations. They growl, whimper, whine, bark, huff, howl... Although the wolf's howl is has been the inspiration for films, essays, poems, etc... we think there is another sound that evokes equal levels of emotion and excitement - a wolf pup's hiccup! \n\nEight-week-old gray wolf pup Nikai is the newest adorable addition to the Wolf Conservation Center's Ambassador Pack in South Salem, NY! As an Ambassador, Nikai will help WCC wolves Atka, Zephyr, and Alawa open the door to understanding the importance and plight of their wild kin. If you're unable to hear and see the kiddo in person, please join us online or on Facebook to follow his growth and adventures. It should be fun (and educational) watching him thrive and become yet another powerful presence in the fight to preserve wolves' rightful place in the environment.\n\nWolf Conservation Center Website - http://nywolf.org/\nFollow us on Facebook - https://www.facebook.com/nywolforg",

    "description" : "Such a sweet scene capturing Tiger's group talk with her growing kittens. \nExotic shorthair mama cat, Tiger, has always loved to talk to her kittens since day one. However, it was not until they were around 2 weeks old, as seen here barely opening their eyes and gradually unfolding their ears, that the kittens could carry on any meaningful conversations with mama cat. \nFirstborn kitten, Muffin (the kitten with the most red coloring of his coat), especially knows how to catch mama's attention with his dramatic vocalizations, while the other kittens are more mellow and get less of a response from Tiger. It is endearing how they talk back and forth to one another.",

        "description" : "Piper Kerman is the author of the bestselling memoir Orange Is the New Black: My Year in a Women's Prison, an account of her thirteen-month incarceration for a decade-old drug offense. Kerman's story offers a rare look into the lives of women in prison—why it is we lock so many people away and what happens to them when they're there. Orange Is the New Black was recently adapted into an acclaimed Netflix Original Series of the same name. Piper works as a communications consultant for nonprofits and philanthropies, and serves on the board of the Women's Prison Association. She has appeared on NPR's Talk of the Nation, Fresh Air, Good Morning America, MSNBC, The Moth Radio Hour, and has written about prison issues for The New York Times and other publications. After TEDxMarionCorrectional she will continue her important work.\n\nIn the spirit of ideas worth spreading, TEDx is a program of local, self-organized events that bring people together to share a TED-like experience. At a TEDx event, TEDTalks video and live speakers combine to spark deep discussion and connection in a small group. These local, self-organized events are branded TEDx, where x = independently organized TED event. The TED Conference provides general guidance for the TEDx program, but individual TEDx events are self-organized.* (*Subject to certain rules and regulations)",

    "description" : "What a beauty!\r\nfrom wikipedia: Die urspr\u00fcngliche Baureihe 114, auch als BMW-02-Serie bezeichnet, umfasst Mittelklassefahrzeuge, die BMW in den Jahren 1966 bis 1977 baute. Die BMW-02-Serie stellte die Abrundung des BMW-Programms nach unten dar. Sie wurde aus dem BMW 1600 der „Neuen Klasse“ abgeleitet, die Modelle hatten jedoch nur zwei T\u00fcren. 2002: 2,0 l, 74 kW (100 PS), M10-Vierzylinder, 1968--1975. - The BMW 2002 series is important in the history of BMW for several reasons, not the least of which it brought the company out of near bankruptcy in the 1960s and put BMW as a marque on the map in the United States. It was the ancestral grandfather to the BMW 3 Series and was produced from 1968 to 1976. German BMW importer Max Hoffman is credited for the car's creation. He had suggested to BMW's engineering director that a 2.0 L engine should be installed into the small two-door 1600-2 to improve performance and emissions. The engineering director argued that the larger motor would not fit, but Hoffman countered that it certainly would fit; if he refused to put the motor in, Hoffman would personally take a car with the new engine to Georg Meier, a famous motorcycle racer, for installation. Almost immediately, this brought action, and the resulting 2002 (named after the new motor's displacement) was popular in its first year on sale stateside. BMW's 2002 Series is credited for inventing the category for compact sporting sedans, a category widely popular now through models from various German, Japanese and American makes of small 2-door sedans with high-performance engines, suspensions and aggressive sports car-like features. The 2002tii is considered by many to be the most desirable '02 produced by BMW and imported to the United States. Compared to a standard 2002, a tii offers greater performance and overall value. Thus, a 2002tii is usually worth more, and therefore, more highly touted. Since the last U.S. tii's were made in 1974, finding one in good shape without owner modifications has grown increasingly difficult. This is especially true considering the tii's mechanical uniqueness and the cost of replacement parts. Furthermore, since the 2002 is a \"tinkerer's car,\" many owners have upgraded their regular 2002s with tii hardware to increase performance. Likewise, tii owners sometimes strip their cars of original tii items, such as the Kugelfischer mechanical fuel injection system in favor of cheaper (but not necessarily better) carburetors. These factors can cause some confusion for a prospective tii buyer. - La BMW 2002 est apparue en janvier 1968. Les premières versions de ce modèle comportait : calandre noire et chrome en deux parties, portières dépourvues de baguettes latérales, étroites jantes tôle de 4.5 pouces à enjoliveurs ajourés, feux arrières ronds. La caisse légère de la 1600-2, bien que renforcée, vient d'hériter du moteur 1 990 cm3 de 100 ch DIN équipant déjà les berlines 2000 et les coupés 2000C, et fait de ce modèle le fer de lance la série des coachs. La BMW 2002 est appelée à un bel avenir et BMW lui appliquera scrupuleusement les recettes qui ont fait le succès de la 1600-2 et avant elle des berlines de la Nouvelle Classe. Rapidement dotées de moteurs plus performants, la 2002 deviendra très rapidement une voiture culte des années 70, notamment grâce à l'apparition du modèle 2002ti (2 carbus double-corps - 120 ch) dès la fin 68, remplacée en 1971 par la 2002tii (Injection Kugelfischer - 130 ch) et suivie de la sulfureuse 2002 turbo (Injection et turbo KKK - 170ch).\", "description" : "Both the movie and the song are called \"Nine to Five\". Five years after posting this video I realized that I was getting a steady stream of questions from people who weren't familiar with the movie or the song or both, so there are several people below who asked what the movie and song were before I changed this opening statement. I would guess that the vast majority of them were born after the movie came out in 1980, so I can see why it's not as clear to them as it would be to someone like me who's seen it umpteen times.\\n\\nAfter the second verse I gave each of the three women their own spotlight during the chorus. Enjoy!", \n\n\nSomebody That I Used To Know lyrics\n\nNow and then I think of when we were together\nLike when you said you felt so happy you could die\nTold myself that you were right for me\nBut felt so lonely in your company\nBut that was love and it's an ache I still remember\n\nYou can get addicted to a certain kind of sadness\nLike resignation to the end\nAlways the end\nSo when we found that we could not make sense\nWell you said that we would still be friends\nBut I'll admit that I was glad that it was over\n\nBut you didn't have to cut me off\nMake out like it never happened\nAnd that we were nothing\nAnd I don't even need your love\nBut you treat me like a stranger\nAnd that feels so rough\nYou didn't have to stoop so low\nHave your friends collect your records\nAnd then change your number\nI guess that I don't need that though\nNow you're just somebody that I used to know\n\nNow and then I think of all the times you screwed me over\nBut had me believing it was always something that I'd done\nAnd I don't wanna live that way\nReading into every word you say\nYou said that you could let it go \nAnd I wouldn't catch you hung up on somebody that you used to know...\nBut you didn't have to cut me off\nMake out like it never happened\nAnd that we were nothing\nAnd I don't even need your love\nBut you treat me like a stranger\nAnd that feels so rough\nYou didn't have to stoop so low\nHave your friends collect your records\nAnd then change your number\nI guess that I don't need that though\nNow you're just somebody that I used to know\nI used to know\nThat I used to know\n\nSomebody...\n\n\nVideo credits:\nDirected, a firework?\nYou could not believe the fuss I made\nI should have laughed it off\nI should have left it lying\nI did not receive much sympathy\n\nRemember that we were poor\nThough so young as not to notice\nWe could ill-afford to paint the town\nYou had your father's charm\nAnd thus your mother's Volvo\nIt wasn't long before you drove me home\n\nIt took until October\nTo win you over\n\nRemember that New Year's Eve\nWe were frightened by a firework?\nWhen I'd watched you leave, the fuss I made\nI made myself calm down\nAnd I made myself a promise:\nI would not conceive of taking no for an answer\n\nThough you kept me guessing and your distance\nWere it not for my persistence\nWe would never have been lovers\nYou kept your distance and me guessing\nFinally acquiescing only after I'd discovered\nYou kept the things I sent you\nThe lengths I went to\n\nGreat lengths...", "description" : "In Heaven Everything Is Fine.\r\n\r\n(From Wikipedia)\r\nEraserhead (released in France as The Labyrinth Man) is a 1977 surrealist-horror film written and directed by David Lynch. The film stars Jack Nance and Charlotte Stewart. Eraserhead initially polarized and baffled many critics and movie-goers, but over time the film has become a cult classic.\r\n\r\nIn 2004, the film was deemed \"culturally significant\" by the United States Library of Congress and selected for preservation in the National Film Registry. Lynch has described his film as a \"dream of dark and troubling things.\" \r\n\r\nEraserhead is considered a difficult film to understand and is open to various interpretations. For example, the review at DVD Verdict offers at least three interpretations. The story does not have a strictly linear plot, it is punctuated with fantasy/dream sequences of differing lengths, and the boundary between these sequences and the primary narrative strand is often blurred. Many have interpreted it as a visual-sound experience rather than a narrative or story, a film that is more about conveying a very specific and powerful mood and atmosphere.

Lynch has said he has yet to read an interpretation of the film that is the same as his own.",

 "description" : "Sunset Blvd. movie clips: <http://j.mp/1CMHGfd>\nBUY THE MOVIE: <http://amzn.to/tBkVtH>\nDon't miss the HOTTEST NEW TRAILERS: <http://bit.ly/1u2y6pr>\n\nCLIP DESCRIPTION:\nJoe (William Holden) is mistaken for a coffin maker when he meets the washed up movie star Norma Desmond (Gloria Swanson).\n\nFILM DESCRIPTION:\nBilly Wilder's Sunset Boulevard ranks among the most scathing satires of Hollywood and the cruel fickleness of movie fandom. The story begins at the end as the body of Joe Gillis (William Holden) is fished out of a Hollywood swimming pool. From The Great Beyond, Joe details the circumstances of his untimely demise (originally, the film contained a lengthy prologue wherein the late Mr. Gillis told his tale to his fellow corpses in the city morgue, but this elicited such laughter during the preview that Wilder changed it). Hotly pursued by repo men, impoverished, indebted \\'boy wonder\' screenwriter Gillis ducks into the garage of an apparently abandoned Sunset Boulevard mansion. Wandering into the spooky place, Joe encounters its owner, imperious silent star Norma Desmond (Gloria Swanson). Upon learning Joe's profession, Norma inveigles him into helping her with a comeback script that she's been working on for years. Joe realizes that the script is hopeless, but the money is good and he has nowhere else to go. Soon the cynical and opportunistic Joe becomes Norma's kept man. While they continue collaborating, Norma's loyal and protective chauffeur Max Von Mayerling (played by legendary filmmaker Erich von Stroheim) contemptuously watches from a distance. More melodramatic than funny, the screenplay by Wilder and Charles Brackett began life as a comedy about a has-been silent movie actress and the ambitious screenwriter who leeches off her. (Wilder originally offered the film to Mae West, Mary Pickford and Pola Negri. Montgomery Clift was the first choice for the part of opportunistic screenwriter Joe Gillis, but he refused, citing as \\'disgusting\' the notion of a 25-year-old man being kept by a 50-year-old woman.) Andrew Lloyd Webber's long-running musical version has served as a tour-de-force for contemporary actresses ranging from Glenn Close to Betty Buckley to Diahann Carroll.\n\nNCREDITS:\nTM & © Paramount (1950)\nCast: William Holden, Gloria Swanson\nDirector: Billy Wilder\nProducer: Charles Brackett\nScreenwriters: Charles Brackett, D.M.
